

Chapter 6

Conclusion

The developed program is a prototype program that runs on Microsoft Windows and approximates to two megabytes. For editing capabilities, pop-up menu and dialogs is provided and can be directed by using either keyboard or mouse. Piping data can be updated by using Data program function. The piping program is used for single incompressible fluid that is pumped through branch piping system. It determines the optimum diameters of all components and yields the most appropriate optimum solution.

ศูนย์วิทยทรัพยากร
จุฬาลงกรณ์มหาวิทยาลัย