

CHAPTER VIII

RECOMMENDATION

To improve the operating profit and make the project more feasible, it is possible to modify the operation in this factory to manufacture other products of which the processings are similar such as latex adhesives, under coating chemicals and sealants. These products have a considerable consumption and remain in the same market segment as Neoprene adhesives in Thailand. Only some additional equipment is required but should not cost much because we are utilizing same auxiliary.

It is also very advisable to study and experiment deeply into the quality improvement by using some other additives and fillers. Nowadays, various chlorinated rubbers, antioxidants, wood resins.....etc. are added to increase adhesive strength, stability, heat resistance and so on. The experimental results will be much helpful to develop proper products in the specific area.
