

CHAPTER IX

SUGGESTIONS FOR FURTHER STUDY

As a result of this dissertation, some suggestions for further studies include the following :

1. There is some evidence that the resulting thin-layer drying equation depends on grain variety, so it is logical to try to formulate the equations for the other cereal grain.

2. Apply the computer simulation to determine the effect of a change in certain parameters on the drying behavior of grain driers to improve quality, increase capacity and reduce the operating costs.