

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS

Sharpen breakthrough curves and less important rate limiting adsorption effects were adsorbed during solute adsorption at lower solute concentration. Due to surfactant precipitation during regeneration, the effect of solute feed concentration and operating in a countercurrent mode in regeneration compared to adsorption could not be evaluated.